RECESSION, RESHMISSION! WE'RE OKEY-DOKEY!

IT'S A BOY AND A GIRL!

While the rest of the business world suffers a staggering recession and cutbacks, VideoHelper does what it can to make the world a better place!

by Kitty Greenblatt

NEW YORK -- Get ready to make a change, VideoHelpers!

As of 6 AM Monday, our company will implement changes that will not only prevent us from going into the red, but will also make us green! Green as in ecologically aware!

Although this week's been busy with the corporate tax audit, the company's stock being de-listed from the Nigerian Stock Exchange and the regrettable loss of many of your chairs due to misunderstandings with the furniture rental company, we're ready to make our successful company successful-er!

• With conservation in mind, we're implementing "Paper-Free Thursdays" where we will not use a scrap of paper, including paper towels, memo pads, fax paper and yes -- even toilet paper. There's a perfectly good Starbucks across the street with excellent facilities for those of you neat freaks requiring a wipe or two.

• And we're not just recycling here at VH, we're re-RE-cycling! The company next door shreds their documents, right? Well, those tiny strips of paper make useful note paper! The next time you're reading a message written on one of these notes, just pretend you're reading an EKG, the result of an undersea earthquake or one of those old stock tickers from the 20's!

• We've decided to foster a "Heart Healthy" company by turning off the elevator. Those 14 flights will be good for you! Those of you in wheelchairs will be able to conduct business in Starbucks across the street. Enjoy those lattes, lazybones!

• Tired of boring lunch hours? Now, we're dedicating those hours to team-building exercises! This month, we'll be stuffing envelopes for another company, learning valuable teamwork. Go team!

• "Bring Your Child to Work Day" is now daily. Our in-house daycare center can teach your child important spacial cognitive skills by doing exercises, like stuffing envelopes. What a great way to safely teach your child about what horrors have befallen children in Malaysia -- or what it was like to endure slavery!

• Although the giant firepit in the main area has dramatically increased the efficiency of heating our offices, it has also increased the amount of carbon monoxide. Remember: if the bird's dead, it's time to open a window! A brain-dead staff doesn't help the company! Ha ha!

• Due to large power requirements and security issues, we are replacing your old computers with adding machines. No more hard drive crashes! Plus, the hand crank will provide an excellent upper-body workout! Forget the gym! Do some "number crunches" instead!

"There's never been a better time to start conserving, except maybe the Great Depression. And I guess last fiscal year, when we started running out of money. That would've been a good time to start."

- VideoHelper Accountant, Mastering Engineer and Barrista David Kaminsky

• We will no longer be getting a Christmas bonus, as we are truly sensitive to the non-Christian religions that may be represented within our ranks. In case we hire someone in one of those weird religions that doesn't celebrate this holiday, we'll be avoiding some uncomfortable moments! Whew!

• Management has decided it's too egotistical to display the 14 Emmys we've won in the past few years and has decided to remove them from the lobby display and share them with the less fortunate/less talented on eBay.

• There will be a new Starbucks opening in David Kaminsky's office! David will now be responsible for administration of all moccachino beverages as well as accounting, electrical repairs and CD mastering. That's a venti responsibility, David! Ha ha! Although the coffee will be served only in mugs that you supply, the price will be slightly higher than the Starbucks downstairs and only one kind of coffee will be available, you can expect great service to a "tea!" (Note: Tea will not be available).

• We've finally gotten rid of that cheap, unsightly coffee maker! No more arguing who makes coffee when!

• Research has shown that the company's bottom line may be increased by changing our web domain name. From Monday on, our web address will now be "HiddenBathroomCams.com." Not only will this bring in more revenue for further Green improvements, but will vastly improve the lighting in the women's room!

• The bi-annual blood drive will be replaced by the quarterly Egg Donation, Bone Marrow and Kidney Drive! This way, we'll be able to not only help those far less fortunate than us, but also those much more fortunate and generous! People in South America need kidneys, too, people!

• Our annual charity 15k run for Cystic Fibrosis will now be shorter by about 15k. Please send your collected donations directly to accounting. We promise nobody will know. Let's pretend the event happened and we all ran record times. Congratulations, athletes!

• A healthy white child is not only a drain on the environment, but is also worth

Newest VH disc "TESTOSTROGEN" released today!

New "cursed" disc overcomes minor errors, plagues of locusts at CD plant and mysterious death of entire composing staff!

We've done it again, VideoHelpers! Although the world needs more generic Pop music like it needs another monobrowed Baldwin brother, VideoHelper has answered the your requests for more Rock/Pop by releasing Disc 34, a collection of 60 new, genre-defying cuts that cover a wide variety of moods, styles and flavors!

Contrasting the muscular, straightforward attitude and the softer, more gentle side of music, VH has divided this three sections, "POP/ROCK/LIGHT, which includes the Jay-Z-meets-Rocky-esque "Unanimous Decision," to the Franz Ferdinand-meets-Block Party strains of "Angularity," to the AGGRESSIVE/ATTITUDE/SPORTS" Section, featuring the dirtbag stripper-ready feel of "All Liquored Up" and the odd, teddy bear-with-a-chainsaw sound of "Puppet Punk," all the way to the final FUN/FUNNY/"FUNNY" section which includes the videogame-esque sound of "Telefragtastic," to the couldn't-find-a-decent-title sound of "Zany Pants" to the "holy shit, we've run out of ideas" sound of "Frustrated Pentapus."

"We wanted a disc that showed both our masculine side AND our effeminate, kind of sensitive, womanly side that spends hours crying and balled up in a corner, afraid the masculine side will come home and make unrealistic sexual demands on the femi-

VideoHelper's environmental footprint

The annual cost of business for VideoHelper Inc

by Kitty Greenblatt

The cost of the 2007 VideoHelper family picnic, reflecting the cost of plates, cups, utensils and actual trees destroyed in the resultant fire. No more picnics in Santa Anna for us.

We finally straighten out that old "what's the difference between 'inflammable' and 'flammable'" debate.

When Larry Hanson left his office windows open over the weekend, letting valuable heating out, and a group of homeless, psychotic arsonists in.

Let's just say it was one really, really indecisive weekend trying to find just the right Christmas tree.

VideoHelper Disc 31, printed on a custom CD made of bald eagles, baby seals and ivory from white elephant tusks. It seemed cool at the time.

Accidentally hit "print" while looking at WhitePages.com

Scale: Each tree represents the loss of $20 million in natural resources
